

David Orson

Profile

I am an outgoing, fun loving individual, who is dedicated to achieving goals and working hard. I am flexible and work to the needs of the business. I love working with people as part of a team but I'm also capable of working alone.

Since December, I have been upskilling for a career change. I have become profficient in JavaScript and React, I have built personal projects that can be viewed on my website below.

My passion for development and my prospects grows stronger with each passing month and I can't wait to prove myself.
